

Trends of Radio Based Train Control Systems

Ikuo WATANABE

This paper outlines radio based train control systems in Japan, Europe, North America, and China. The systems aim at realization of flexible train control systems and reducing wayside equipment. It describes the main functions and components of these train control systems. In addition, some subjects for realizing communication based train control systems are discussed.